Selected Releases

Standard Bank: On Thursday morning, SBK released its results for the six months ended 30 June 2017. In it, the group reported a 1% decline in total income to R49.336bn. This decline was mainly due to weaker non-interest revenue, which dropped by 7%. However, the group did benefit from a slight decline in its credit loss ratio to 96 basis points, down from the 105 basis points recorded a year ago. Operating expenses dropped by 2% during the period, driven mainly by tight cost control, which resulted in the cost-to-income ratio declining by 50 basis points to 56.3%. Headline earnings per share grew by 11% to 756 cents. Lastly, the board opted to declare an interim dividend of 400 cents.

Gold Fields: Yesterday also saw GFI release its results for the six months ended 30 June 2017. During the period, revenue increased by 2% to $1.335bn, up from the $1.305bn recorded a year ago. This uptick was mainly due to a 1% increase in the total ounces sold to 1.08m, up from 1.07m ounces a year ago. Net operating costs rose by 6% to $707m, while operating profit dropped by 2% to come in at $627m. As a result, net earnings attributable to the owners of the parent stood at $53m, or $0.07 per share, sharply lower than the $115m (or $0.14 per share) reported a year ago. Furthermore, headline earnings per share declined to $0.09 – much lower than the $0.16 recorded previously. Lastly, the board declared an interim dividend of 40 cents per share.

Harmony Gold Mining: HAR also released its results during the previous session, this time for the year ended 30 June 2017. The group recorded a 5% increase in revenue to R19.3bn. Given that cash operating costs grew by 11% in rand terms, however, production profit decreased by 13% to R4.45bn. Overall, headline earnings per share amounted to 298 cents, up from the 221 cents reported a year ago. The board declared a 70% increase in its interim dividend to 35 cents per share.

Selected Headlines

On Thursday, local markets ended in negative territory, weighed down by prospects of reduced liquidity in global financial markets and as investors digested a number of local earnings reports. By the end of the session, the JSE All Share index had fallen 0.21% to settle at 55,415.27 index points, outperforming a 0.3% decline in the Top 40 index. The banking index featured among the worst performers, down 0.54%, with Standard Bank dropping 1.06% after releasing its results. In contrast, the gold mining index surged 2.07%, spurred on by a 4.71% increase in Gold Fields and a 0.48% uptick in Harmony after they too had released their latest results during the session.

American Market Headlines

Selected Headlines

Wall Street ended sharply lower on Thursday, with the S&P 500 recording its largest one-day decline in three months. This slump was mainly attributable to increasing concerns regarding US President Donald Trump's administration and a terror attack in Barcelona. The NASDAQ featured as the region's worst performer, forfeiting 1.94%, while the S&P 500 shed 1.54% to end the session at 2,430.01 index points. Furthermore, the Dow Jones ended 1.24% lower at 21,750.73 index points, negatively affected by a 1.6% decline in Wal-Mart after the group had released its latest quarterly results earlier on in the session.

European Market Headlines

European markets traded lower yesterday, negatively affected by a decline in banking shares following the release of cautious minutes from the US Federal Reserve on Wednesday. Indices were also negatively affected by reports of a terror-related incident in Barcelona. At the close, the Stoxx 600 index had fallen 0.59% to settle at 376.87 index points, led lower by a 0.61% decline in the FTSE 100. In addition, the French CAC 40 shed 0.57%, followed by a 0.49% decline in the German DAX. Lastly, the banking index lost 1.6%, with Deutsche Bank and Commerzbank dropping between 2.8% and 3% respectively, while the energy index ended 1% lower.

Asian Market Headlines

Asian markets weakened this morning, dragged down by an overnight slump on Wall Street and concerns about a terror attack in Barcelona. The Japanese Nikkei featured as the region's worst performer, down 0.94% at 19,517.80 index points, with the index set to end lower for the third consecutive session. In addition, mainland markets were also trading in negative territory, with the Hang Seng and the Shanghai Composite falling 0.68% and 0.2% respectively. Lastly, the Australian ASX lost 0.66%, on track to extend yesterday's 0.06% decline.

Commodities & Currency Pairs

Commodity Headlines

Brent crude traded higher during the previous session, helped along by data showing that US crude stockpiles were declining. The industrial commodity added 1.51%, or $0.76, to close at $51.03 per barrel. However, Brent trimmed some of yesterday's gains this morning, as it dropped 0.04% to trade at $51.01 per barrel, negatively affected by a decline in most global markets. Spot gold was also trading slightly lower this morning, with the precious metal dropping 0.06% to trade at just above the $1,287/oz level.

Currency Headlines

During the previous session, the local currency erased some of its recent gains, weighed down by the release of the European Central Bank's latest meeting minutes. After a previous close of R13.178/$ on Wednesday, the rand got off to a strong start as it moved to trade at a high of R13.137/$ at 8:30. However, by 13:00, the local currency had fallen to R13.23/$ before retracing some of its losses to trade at R13.171/$ at 17:00. The rand weakened overnight as it dropped to trade at just below the R13.27/$ level this morning.
