Woolworths: On Thursday, WHL released a trading update as well as a trading statement for the 52 weeks ended 24 June 2018. Firstly, group sales increased by only 1.6% compared to the previous year, while sales grew by 2.9% in constant currency terms. In the trading statement segment, WHL confirmed that it expects headline earnings per share to decline by between 15% and 20%. As a result, headline earnings per share are set to drop to between 336.7 cents and 357.8 cents, down from 420.9 cents previously. Meanwhile, the group expects to report a loss per share of between 340 cents and 396.7 cents, sharply lower than its earnings per share of 566.7 cents recorded in 2017. Woolworths' earnings per share was impacted by a 712.5mn Australian dollar impairment on the carrying value of David Jones. Finally, WHL will issue its results on or around the 23rd of August 2018.

Massmart: During the previous session, MSM issued a sales update for the 26 weeks ended 1 July 2018. On a like-for-like basis, which excludes Shield, the group recorded a 1.9% increase in total sales to R41.55bn, up from R40.78bn previously. On a comparable basis, sales grew by 0.2% compared to a year ago. Furthermore, MSM's product inflation came in at 0.7% for the period. Finally, the group's results will be released on the 23rd of August 2018.

Kumba Iron Ore: Yesterday also saw KIO release a trading statement for the six months ended 30 June 2018. In it, the group advised shareholders that it expects earnings per share to decline to between 892 cents and 938 cents, representing a drop of between 35% and 38% compared to the 1,437 cents recorded in 2017. Headline earnings per share are set to slump by between 34% and 37%, to between 902 cents and 949 cents, down from 1,442 cents previously. The expected decline is mainly due to a stronger rand/dollar exchange rate and lower export iron ore prices compared to 2017. The group's results will be published on the 24th of July 2018.

In response, Brent crude lost $0.32 to $72.58 per barrel, despite the commodity reaching a session high of $73.79 per barrel earlier on in the day. Brent was mostly unchanged this morning, down 0.01% at $72.57 per barrel. Finally, spot gold shed 0.41% on Friday morning, while iron ore added 0.66% to $63.72 per ton.
