Schroder European Real Estate: On Monday morning, SCD issued its results for the year ended 30 September 2018. Firstly, the board declared a dividend of 1.95 euro cents per share, representing its fourth dividend for the year. As a result, the full-year dividend now stands at 7.4 euro cents, 42% higher than that reported a year ago. At the end of the period, the group's current portfolio was valued at €222mn, reflecting an 8.1% increase compared to the combined purchase price of the twelve assets. Furthermore, its net asset value came in at €182.1mn, or 136.2 euro cents, as at the 30th of September, 2.2% higher than the previous corresponding period. Other highlights included a 28% increase in its profit to €13.2mn, while its underlying EPRA earnings came in at €10.8mn, up from €6.9mn previously. Lastly, its loan-to-value ratio increased by 100 basis points to 26%.

Tiger Brands: During the previous session, the group released an announcement in which it confirmed that the High Court of South Africa has granted an order certifying a class action against Tiger Brands. As previously advised, the class action will be conducted in two stages. In the first stage, the respondents' liability, if any, to the classes will be determined. If any class is successful in the first stage, then the class action will proceed to the second stage. Only members of the classes who opt-in at the second stage will benefit from the class action against the respondents who are found to be liable. Looking forward, now that certification is complete, the applicants will issue summons to start the class action. Lastly, Tiger Brands will continue to work to ensure that the entire process is managed as efficiently as possible.

Yesterday saw the JSE surge higher, buoyed by positive sentiment after trade tensions eased between the US and China. In response, the JSE All Share added 2.79% to close at 52,079.2 index points, while the Top 40 rallied 3.12%. This was partly due to a 4.89% increase in the resource index, with BHP and Anglo American gaining 5.64% and 5.32% respectively. In addition, Sasol ended 6.82% higher, supported by a surge in oil prices. The platinum mining index also ended higher, up 4.01%, while a 2.62% uptick in the industrial index was mainly attributable to a 4.54% increase in Naspers. Lastly, banking shares also performed well, with FirstRand gaining 2.86%.

American Market Headlines

Selected Headlines
 US indices enjoyed their best start to December in eight years, after China and the US agreed to a truce over the weekend. As is stands, the two superpowers now have 90 days in order to negotiate and solve their differences before an escalation to the trade war kicks in. The NASDAQ added 1.51% to lead the region's gains, followed by a 1.13% increase in the Dow Jones. The S&P 500 followed close on its heels after it rose 1.09% to close at 2,790.37 index points. Finally, energy shares performed well following the surge in oil prices, while Ford and General Motors added 2.02% and 1.32% after China agreed to cut tariffs on US automobiles.

European Market Headlines

European markets started the week off on the front foot as investors reacted to reports that China and the US have agreed to a 90-day ceasefire while they try to overcome their trade differences. The Stoxx 600 rose 1.03% during the session to close at 361.18 index points, with a 1.85% rally in the German DAX featuring among the top performers. The uptick in the DAX was partly due to a 4.83% increase in BMW and a 2.6% advance in Volkswagen as automobile shares benefitted from reports that China has agreed to slash auto import tariffs. Lastly, the FTSE 100 and French CAC 40 gained 1.18% and 1% respectively.

Asian Market Headlines

This morning saw Asian markets mostly lower, with the exception of the Shanghai Composite, impacted by concerns that the US and China will not be able to solve their differences before the end of the 90-day agreement. The Australian ASX led the region's losses, down 0.86%, with the index set to end lower for the second time in the last three sessions. Meanwhile, the Japanese Nikkei had fallen 0.69%, on track to partly erase yesterday's 1% decline and bring an end to its recent run of gains. Finally, the Hang Seng lost 0.3%, while the Shanghai Composite managed to 0.06% to 2,656.85 index points.

Commodity Headlines

Oil prices jumped nearly 4% during the previous session, lifted by the US and China's agreement to implement a 90-day truce. In addition, the industrial commodity was buoyed by report that Canada's Alberta province had ordered producers to cut production by 8.7% in order to deal with a pipeline bottleneck that has led to crude building up in storage. By the close, Brent crude had risen 3.75%, or $2.23, to close at $61.69 per barrel. This morning saw Brent extend its gains, up 0.96% at $62.28 per barrel. Spot gold was also in positive territory this morning after it added 0.41$ to $1,235.77/oz, while iron ore traded sharply lower.

Currency Headlines

The local currency strengthened during Monday's session, supported by risk-on sentiment. In addition, the rand also benefited from upbeat local data. During November Absa's purchasing managers' index (PMI) climbed to 49.5 points, sharply higher than the 42.4 points recorded in October. Despite the uptick, a number below 50 still indicates a contraction. After touching a low of R13.75/$ at 8:00, the local currency moved to a high of R13.58/$ at 10:30. However, the rand trimmed some of its losses as the session progressed before moving to just below the R13.70/$ level this morning. Today will see the latest local GDP data being released.
